Boys' and Young Men's Easter Clothing.

CLOTHES do not make the boy any more than they do the man, but they do depict his character. If a boy is particular, neat, and tasty, it's going to show itself in his dress—and he should be encouraged in it. He wants the latest styles, and he wants them well made and of good materials. We can help him cultivate that taste from our superb stock, which contains only the best grades—clothes that will hold their shape and color until discarded.

If he is to have a suit for Easter Sunday, bring him in and let us show you how well we can clothe him.

Young Men's Suits.

Our line of Young Men's Suits is unusually attractive. The styles are full of snap and vim—just what the up-to-date young men want and appreciate. Medium and extreme styles and prominent "college" effects. We speak very highly of these suits because we know just what they are, and the young men who buy them know they are right up to the minute. Sizes 15 to 20, or 31 to 36 inch chest measure.

PRESIDENT TAFT A MOURNER

Members of Cabinet, Admiral Dewey, and Prominent Naval Officers Attend Services at St. John's Episcopal Church—Body Escorted by Bluejackets and Marines.

In the presence of President Taft, attended by his military and naval aids, members of his Cabinet, Admiral Dewey, and other prominent naval officers, members of the diplomatic corps, and resident society, funeral services for Rear Admiral George A. Converse, U. S. N., retired, took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. John's Episcopal Church. Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of the church, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. Mr. Dunlop. Interment was in Arlington Cemetery, with full military honors.

Slant and with bowed heads, with furled flags and muffled drums, two companies of bluejackets and four companies of marines stood arranged in military lines around the streets facing the old historic church, from which one of their own was taken to his last resting place. A large crowd, lining both sides of the streets, was attracted by the scene, and waited reverently until the cortege left the house of worship on its way to the cemetery.

Promptly at 4 o'clock the arrival of President Taft, accompanied by his military and naval aids, was announced by a bugle signal, and like a flash arms were presented by the sailors and soldiers as the front in his automobile. With quick steps, he entered the church, followed by his aids, and advanced to the chancel rail, where seats had been reserved. The military pallbearers occupied seats in the immediate rear of the President.

The chancel was banked with numerous magnificent floral pieces, and the casket covered with the Stars and Stripes, the sailor's sword, his epaulettes, and chapeau occupied a place in front of the chancel. After the services a squad of bluejackets, who acted as active pallbearers, lifted the casket and placed it on a caisson body drawn by eight horses.

Rear Admirals Attend.

The honorary pallbearers were Rear Admirals Sperry, Stockton, Leuze, Cowles, Pillsbury, Mason, and Colvocoresses, Chief Constructor Capps, Pay Director Speer, and Capt. Usher.

Rear Admiral W. W. Kimball was in command of the military escort, including the Marine Band, four companies of marines, and two companies of bluejackets. Officers at the church were Lieut. Commanders Luby and Morton and Lieut. Hart and Berry.

At Arlington the regular military service for the dead was said, and as the casket was lowered into the grave three volleys were fired by the escort. The services terminated with the sounding of taps.

MISS GRANT IN RECITAL.

Theater Audience Falls to Appreciate Her Efforts.

Oscar Wilde's "Salome" was presented as a reading by Miss Any Grant at the Columbia Theater yesterday afternoon before a small audience, which failed to show its appreciation of the excellent work done by this charming reader. Assisting Miss Grant was Bruno Huhn, who did artistic work at the piano in his interpretation of the musical arrangement of the score written by Richard Strauss.

In depicting Salome's passionate and childish desire for the head of John the Baptist, Miss Grant was convincing, and deserved a more cordial reception than was given her. Preceding the reading, Miss Grant recited a group of old English love lyrics, with musical settings by Stanley Hawley.
